

CARNEGIE BOILER KILLS SIX MEN

EXPLOSION IN THE PLANT NEAR BRADDOCK.

Bessemer Establishment Shattered by a Blast—Twenty Nine Died in the Gurney Hotel Fire—Part of the Walls Stand as Blackened Tomb Stones.

Pittsburg, Aug. 20.—An explosion of a furnace in the Carnegie plant at Bessemer near Braddock at 5 o'clock this morning, killed six and injured eight. Five of these will die.

Denver, Col., Aug. 20.—A portion of the Gurney hotel, the scene of Sunday night's frightful disaster, is still standing, gaunt and sinister, constantly threatening to crash down upon those delving in the ruins at any moment. The search for victims has been constantly carried on with the utmost energy with the aid of twenty arc lights. Flames broke out afresh in the wreckage, and the fire engines are again pouring forth water, still further impeding the work of rescue.

The list of dead and missing now numbers twenty-nine, making the disaster the worst that ever occurred in the city.

Among the missing is now included Elmer Pierce (not Lush), the night engineer, who is said to have re-entered the hotel just before the explosion occurred. It is to this man's carelessness that the disaster is attributed.

The bodies of Peter Gurney and General Adams are still in the ruins. Judge James Glynn, who was at first supposed to have been in his room at the hotel, turns out to be at Holyoke, Colo., where he was spending Sunday with friends. The dead:

PETER GUMRY, owner of the hotel.
R. C. GREINER, manager of the hotel, son-in-law of Peter Gurney.

MRS. R. C. GREINER, clerk of the hotel, daughter of Peter Gurney.

GENERAL CHARLES ADAMS, Manitou, Col.

A. L. BLAKE, Pueblo, Col.

MYRON E. HAWLEY, Union Pacific railroad clerk, Denver.

JAMES MURPHY, contractor, Denver.

GEORGE BURT, passenger conductor on the Rock Island railroad, Colorado Springs.

MRS. R. C. WOLFE and daughter.

TWO CHAMBERMAIDS, names unknown.

Child of Mr. and Mrs. Griener.

FRED HUBBOLD, or HAUSER, of Elizabeth, Iowa.

WILLIAM RICHARDS, elevator operator.

THREE CHAMBERMAIDS, names unknown.

ONE BELLBOY, name unknown.

BELA I. LORAH, Central City, Colo.

FREDERICK FRENCH, Central City, Colo.

J. L. Kirk, Omaha.

Elmer Pierce, engineer of the Gurney hotel.

J. A. Brown, Omaha.

The missing:

GREINER, father of R. C. Greiner, manager of the hotel.

BUD BURNS, Colorado Springs.

W. J. CARSON, Pueblo, Col.

E. F. MCLOSKEY, Canon City, Col.

JUDGE GLYNN, Leadville, Col.

F. FRENCH, Central City, Col.

BERT LARSH, Central City, Col.

It is not positively known that the two last-named were in their room.

The injured:

Joseph Munal, cigar maker, body bruised; internal injuries.

Michael C. Burgess, severely cut about face.

A. E. Irwin, night clerk; cuts and bruises.

J. H. Letson, tramway conductor; body badly bruised; internal injuries.

Fred Coleman, not serious.

Bud Hopkins, not serious.

Among the guests who escaped practically uninjured are:

Peter Poss and daughter, Chattanooga, Tenn.

W. R. McCormick, traveling sales, man, Chicago.

Ray Helme, Ogden, Utah.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McClain and baby, Huron, Kan.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shaw, Huron, Kan.

Herman Leuders, Manitou, Col.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Roberts, Colorado Springs, Col.

At 10:30 p. m. the body of E. F. McLoskey of Colorado Springs, a wealthy owner of Cripple Creek mines, was taken from the ruins. This, with James Murphy, who died while being taken out, makes eight bodies thus far recovered.

The fire has almost been extinguished and 100 teams are now making as rapid progress as possible removing the debris, though at best the work is painfully slow.

At midnight three more bodies were uncovered, those of Bela I. Lora and Frederick French of Central City, Colo., and an unknown. The former has been identified by Mr. Lora's father, who is assisting in removing the debris from the bodies. The third body is burned beyond recognition.

The scenes surrounding the death of James Murphy, contractor, were heart-rending. The firemen engaged at the rear of the building heard the agonizing cries from the man that he was burning and asking them to continue to play the water. After a few hours' work the firemen reached him. His two lower limbs were pinioned between two heavy joists. After the most heroic efforts with dense smoke blinding them, the firemen released Murphy's left leg. At this moment a sheet of flame compelled them to withdraw. Murphy then offered his rescuers $1,000 to get him out and piteously demanded them to chop his leg off. A second later the west wall collapsed and covered Murphy with tons of ruins. Mr. Murphy came to Denver from Omaha six years ago.

J. E. Calkins, wife and baby, who were thought for a time to have been victims of the casualty, have been located in the Highlands. Mr. Calkins is a newspaper man from Davenport, Iowa, city editor of the Gazette. They registered at the Gurney on their arrival here, but later went to stay with friends.

Joe Muneal, of Cairo, Ill., was rescued at 2:30 o'clock in the morning, after an hour's work. His injuries, though severe, are not thought to be fatal.

There is no doubt the disaster was caused by a boiler explosion. Elmer Pierce, the engineer, it is said, was intoxicated, and after turning a large quantity of cold water into the boilers, left the building ten minutes before the explosion occurred. The police are looking for him. R. E. Irwin, the night clerk, says Pierce, who was only 17 years old, was drunk when he went on duty, and that he was in the habit of neglecting his duty. Irwin was pinned beneath some heavy timbers of his desk by the explosion and was rescued by a fireman. He has scalp wounds and internal injuries, but will recover.

The total loss caused by the explosion and fire is $75,000. The Gurney hotel was worth $25,000 and had $8,000 worth of furniture. It is a total wreck, but was insured for $25,000. The McCormick block, which stands next to the Gurney, was also heavily damaged. The loss on the building is $25,000, as the building will have to be torn down.

This block is insured for $15,000. The stock of A. Lillibridge, valued at $30,000, is only partly lost.

Peter Gurney, the owner of the hotel, was one of the old-time citizens of Denver. He was about 60 years of age and a widower, his daughter being the wife of R. C. Greiner, all three of whom perished in the explosion. By trade he was a contractor and builder, and in this branch of business made a good deal of money. He superintended the construction of the Chamber of Commerce, the courthouse, and more recently the capitol. He was a Scotchman.

Wanted to Lynch Him.

Otsego, Mich., Aug. 20.—Sam Sheeler, a negro from Port Wayne, Ind., narrowly escaped being lynched here yesterday. He is one of the gang that has terrorized this vicinity by a series of robberies and other crimes for ten days past.

Sunday night he robbed Mrs. M. Smith and tried to assault her. He was captured and arrested yesterday morning. Later a crowd of citizens entered the little jail unresisted, and dragged the negro out with a rope around his neck. He confessed his crime and told where his confederates could be found. Several posses have started to run down the rest of the robbers.

Went Through a Bridge.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 20.—While a pleasure party of twenty people was crossing a bridge that spans Five Mile creek at Brookside yesterday the bridge gave way with a crash and precipitated its occupants into the water below. Among the injured are: James Collier, 12 years old, seriously hurt; Alfred McPherson, 10 years old, fatally hurt by falling beams. All the others were more or less bruised, among them being several women and children. Fortunately the water in the creek was shallow, otherwise several of the injured might have been drowned. The crowding of the bridge caused it to fall.

Fire Damages a University.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 20.—Fire broke out in the Johns Hopkins University yesterday afternoon, and it was feared the entire laboratory would be destroyed. The fire was caused by an electric light wire which passed along under the roof of the building. The damage to the building, which was confined to the roof, will amount to not more than $500. What damage will be entailed to the apparatus from water is hard to estimate, but those who are connected with institution do not think it will exceed $5,000.

Wants a Change of Venue.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 20.—Superior Judge Murphy was too ill yesterday to proceed with the trial of Theodore Durrant. A recess was declared until Thursday. It is said that counsel for the defense are preparing affidavits in support of a new motion for a change of venue on the ground of the impracticability of securing an impartial jury in San Francisco. If the motion is granted it is said that they will endeavor to have Santa Rosa selected as the scene of the trial.

CHINA WILL NOT HAVE IT.

Investigation Into the Killing of Missionaries Is Stopped.

Hong Kong, Aug. 20.—The Chinese government not only has refused to allow the American consuls to investigate the Ku-Cheng massacre, but has given the British consuls as well to understand that they will not be allowed to make the proposed inquiry. This balks the official investigation.

The refusal to allow an investigation was made by the prefect sent with the commission at Ku-Cheng, backed by the Chinese officials there. The matter has been referred to the viceroy. The Chinese soldiers, taking advantage of this turn in affairs, are engaged in plundering. The people feel that the foreigners are the cause of their suffering, and that therefore they should be destroyed. Further incendiary placards have been posted at Canton.

Germans Celebrate.

Berlin, Aug. 20.—The Veterans' association of Berlin assembled on the Templehof field yesterday 40,000 strong for the big memorial celebration of the victories of the Germans over the French in 1870. This was the anniversary of the severe bombardment of Strasburg by the Germans and of the retreat of the French army under General McMahon before the advance of the Prussians. Emperor William was present and made a characteristic speech.

TREE FALLS ON THE TRACK.

Forest Fires in Washington Nearly Cause a Wreck.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 20.—Passengers on the west-bound Great Northern train had a narrow escape from death Sunday night. The train had passed through a fiery furnace of burning forests for a distance of ten miles, and when it reached the Little Spokane river, about twenty miles east of this city, a huge tree fell across the track from the mountain above, just as the train was passing. The engine struck it, causing the train to stop so suddenly as to throw the passengers violently from their seats. The burning tree was dragged partially under the cars, and for a moment the train toppled to one side, until it almost went into a 150-foot chasm on the other side. So intense was the heat from the forest fire that the coaches blistered, and almost took fire. The passengers for a time were panic-stricken, and but for the coolness of the train crew they would have rushed to certain death. The burning tree set fire to the mail and baggage cars, but the flames were extinguished with water from the stream. With axes the track was cleared, and the train succeeded in reaching here badly damaged.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 20.—While passenger train No. 6 on the Omaha road was crossing the Wisconsin Central bridge over the Chippewa river, about a mile from Chippewa Falls, the iron work and braces on one side parted from the upper cord. One side of the track sunk about a foot, when it caught and held, while the train passed safely over. Had the track sunk a trifle further the train and its twenty-five passengers would have toppled over into the river, forty-five feet below.

He then turned the revolver and shot himself. He lived about two hours and did not regret that he had done the deed. A little girl is left to mourn her parents.

THE BEATRICE FORGERIES.

Further Developments in the Case Cause Consternation.

Beatrice, Neb., Aug. 20.—The disclosures made yesterday in the city hall steal were such that the prosecuting attorney filed two new complaints against City Clerk Phillips and one against Hawkins, each containing from three to five specific charges of forgery and of uttering fraudulent city warrants. They were rearraigned late in the afternoon and bail fixed on each count at $1,000 and $1,500. Parties who have been buying city warrants are filled with consternation, as they do not know where they will land. The investigations brought to light warrants bearing the forged signature of M. E. Shultz, mayor during the last administration, and also with the forged signature of John Dwyer, the president of the council. What these spurious warrants may aggregate is yet only mere conjecture.

UTAH TOWN BURNS.

Bingham Entirely Wiped Out by a Fire Yesterday.

Bingham, Utah, Aug. 20.—The whole town is ablaze, and the loss is estimated at $200,000. The fire originated at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, in Butler's livery stable. Roberts dwelling house, saloon and stable were consumed. Then the flames spread to Chinatown and swept everything on the west side of the street. Among the buildings destroyed on the west side of the street were the Griffin house, Quinn's building, post-office, mining recorder's office, United States Commissioner's office, Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone office, Catholic church, and a number of boarding houses. Many people are homeless.

Find a Big Shortage.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 20.—Experts who have been working on the books of ex-County Treasurer M. W. Stewart of Wyandotte county, Kan., concluded their report last evening, and claim to have discovered a shortage of $33,885.27. The report states that the shortage consists in the refunding of taxes and in the treasurer overdrawn his salary. Joseph Hoffman, who was deputy under Stewart, asserts that the ex-treasurer is not short, and that he has facts to show his accounts are absolutely correct. No action on the report will be taken at present.

To Tap Oil Fields.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 21.—Commencing in a few days, the Norfolk sugar factory of the Oxards will use crude oil for fuel instead of coal. This will be a practical test of the merits of oil as a substitute for coal, and if profitable results are obtained, will turn the attention of Omaha capitalists to the resources of the great oil fields of Wyoming. A pipe line from central Wyoming to Omaha is talked of as calculated to revolutionize the manufacturing industries of the west.

SPRING VALLEY RIOT CASES.

Many of the Italians Bound Over for Trial.

Princeton, Ill., Aug. 20.—Of the thirty Spring Valley men arrested for participation in the mob that drove the colored population from that city, twenty-five were bound over yesterday to await the action of the grand jury, and of this number all but Paul Yerley and Desire Bovine, for whom bail was presented and accepted, were again committed to jail. Two matters have never been printed were brought out in the trial. One, was that Italians searched the houses of the colored people early in the morning of the riot and disarmed them, and also that Manager Dalzell of the coal company made an effort to supply the colored people with company's rifles, but stopped upon the advice of their attorney, who stated such a course would be unlawful.

Charged With Manslaughter.

New York, Aug. 20.—Damaging testimony was given in the Ireland building collapse investigation yesterday, it appearing that Building Inspector Buckley was interested in the mason contract. Deputy Building Inspector Vreeland admitted the foundations were improperly laid, but said he took it for granted they were all right. At the conclusion of the session Assistant District Attorney McIntyre said: "Mr. Ireland will be indicted for manslaughter. As for Contractor Parker, he can only be brought up under the building laws."

New Jersey Forest Fires.

New York, Aug. 20.—The entire section of New Jersey bounded by the towns of Pomona, Port Republic, Brigantine Junction, and Absecon is either threatened by widespread forest fires or already devastated. Hundreds of miles have already been burned over, houses and livestock consumed, and it is feared there has been considerable loss of life. Scattered through the burning country are numerous houses, but it is impossible to send them any help.

Durango, Col., Aug. 19.—Commissioners Schultz, Kidd and Day, who have been designated by the Secretary of the Interior to allot lands to the Southern Utes, have begun operations. To date 359 Indians of the Mochoe and Capate tribes have expressed preference for allotment and each Indian will receive 160 acres. There are about 1,100 Indians on the reservation. It is expected the allotments will be completed by November 1, when they will be forwarded to the Department of the Interior for approval, after which the allotted lands will be opened to the people by presidential proclamation.

A bill has been presented to congress and is likely soon to become a law, granting free government lands to settlers in the Rio Negro country."

STOP SEWER SMELLS OR PLUG THE PIPES

BURNHAM AND WINSLOW TAKE THE BULL BY THE HORNS.

If the Owners of Private Lines do Not Abate the Nuisance the Street Commissioner Will Act—Tax Levy Ordered—To Regrade Fourth Avenue—Crushed Stone to be Bought.

Aldermen Burnham and Winslow put their feet down on the thick, dark brown odor that hangs about the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets, and also on the pungent smell that permeates Dodge street, at the council meeting last night, for which the populace should rise up and call them blessed. The tax rolls were also accepted; steps were taken to save the trees in the Second ward park the grade of Fourth avenue was recommended and considerable other business was done.

Aldermen Heddles, McLean, Smith and Sutherland were absentees when Mayor Baines called the meeting to order. None of the committees has anything to report, but Alderman Hemming had a pocket full of business to unload. His first installment was the report of the committee appointed to examine the part of Fourth Avenue that the tax payers desired to be graded. The report, which was adopted, stated that the committee had examined the street and found it in a dangerous condition in many particulars and closed with the recommendation that the said street, between Caroline street and Prospect avenue be regraded according to the established grade of June 24, 1895.

Collect Taxes and Buy Stone. As soon as he got the grade matter off his hands Alderman Hemming produced another paper and read therefrom. This one was an order directing the mayor and city clerk to sign the warrant for the collection of the city taxes, and providing that the same when signed be placed in the hands of the city treasurer for collection which order was adopted.

After all had voted aye, the alderman from the Fourth introduced another order, it being that the highway committee be directed to buy two car loads of crushed stone for top dressing streets now being repaired, the same to be charged to the general fund which was also adopted.

Orders for sidewalks were introduced as follows, all of which were adopted:

By Alderman Kothman—For a crosswalk across Union street on the west side of River street.

By Alderman Winslow—For the street commissioners to order the building of sidewalks on Augusta street. Providing that water service be put in the Second ward park in hopes of saving the trees, the expense of which would be about $20.

By Alderman Stearns—Providing for the repairing of Franklin street, from Milwaukee to Wall.

By Alderman Burnham—Directing the city engineer to prepare specifications for the Fourth avenue grade.

Stop Sewer Nuisances.

Alderman Burnham then introduced an order that the city clerk be ordered to notify the owners of the private sewer on Milwaukee street to abate the nuisance within ten days, and in case of their failure so to do, that the street commissioner be instructed to close the sewer up. All voted aye on this motion.

"There is another sewer on Dodge street that needs attending to," said Alderman Burnham, "and if that is not fixed before the next meeting I will introduce an order to have that plugged up to be declared."

"Why not order it now?" said Alderman Winslow. "Sixteen people own the sewer. Half of them want to fix it and half of them do not. It wouldn't cost over $20, I'm told, and I think it ought to be fixed. If it isn't there won't be room in the new hospital for the cases of diphtheria. I suggest that Alderman Burnham include the Dodge street sewer in his order."

The original order was then reconsidered and amended after which it was passed, all voting aye. At this juncture Alderman Heddles came in and two minutes later His Honor declared Alderman Kothman's motion to adjourn, carried.

EYES TOO POOR FOR A SOLDIER

Twenty Three Applicants at the Janesville Armory Turned Away.

Poor eyesight bars many Janesville young men from wearing the blue.

Three recruits, and three only have been accepted by Sergeant D.J. Brady in a month.

Twenty-six have applied—nearly all of American birth—and twenty-three of these were handicapped by defective vision and had to be refused. One young man could not read a base ball poster twenty feet away, although he had never dreamed that his vision was not perfect.

"Captain Stafford will be here next week," said Sergeant Brady today, "and will take the three men I have enlisted back to Fort Sheridan."

Thirteen dollars a month with board and clothes, is a strong inducement even in prosperous Rock county, judging from the number of applicants.

STREET CAR BUSINESS ONLY FAIR

This Year's Business is Not up to Last Year's by Considerable.

The street car business this year will not begin to show up as well as last year. Last week was supposed to be a big one with the Caledonian and the Catholic League picnic and the weeks showing amounted to just 7499 passengers which would have been nothing more than an average week of last year. In June a year ago 1102 passengers were carried daily on average; in July, 1013, and in August, 1005; while this year although the month of July averaged 1016 Superintendent Proudfoot thinks the year's business will average near 800.

VEGETABLES CHEAPER THIS MONTH

Home Grown Garden Truck Is More Plentiful Around Town.

Early these fine mornings numerous vegetable wagons may be seen coming into the city from all directions. An east side grocer declares that this year they are thicker than ever before. Many of the neighboring farmers are not raising tobacco this year, and have gone into garden truck. Plenty of home grown vegetables and home grown water melons were brought in today. One farmer who had a load of watermelons was offered three cents each for them, but said he would feed them to the bogs first.

NO BERTH VACANT UNTIL NOV. 2

C. L. Jenkins Finds That West Bound Transportation Is Hard To Get.

This has been a great year for the steamship companies. C. L. Jenkins arranged for his transportation to Europe the last of this month, and then enquired when a return berth could be had. He was told that every boat was full, up to Nov. 2, the rush of home-coming tourists being so great. The tourist who goes over and doesn't book his return trip for a definite date, stands a good chance of waiting several weeks at this time of the year before a steamer can be had.

TWO HURT BY HORSES THAT RAN AWAY

COOKSVILLE PEOPLE CONSIDERABLY KNOCKED ABOUT

Jacob Forsett's Hired Man Has His Leg Broken and Mrs. Alford is Kicked in the Forehead—Milton Corn Burning Up—Porter Paralysis Case.

Cooksville Aug. 20.—One of Jacob Forsett's hired men had a runaway in Evansville, and received a broken leg. Mrs. Love's pony became unmanageable while she was returning from Stoughton with Mrs. Alford, and ran over a plow and a milk stand and broke a wheel in the buggy and kicked Mrs. Alford on the forehead. GOOD STONE HANDY FOR STREET WORK

JANESVILLE HAS PLENTY OF GOOD MATERIAL NEAR BY.

So Says the Agent for the Austin Crusher, Who Desires to Sell the City a Machine, That the Roller Could Run, on "the Easy Payment System"

"You have the best stone in the United States for road work here," said the agent of the Austin Stone Crusher Company this morning, "Now if the city of Janesville wants to try some of it, I think we can make a deal whereby we can ship a crusher here, break up enough stone to fix a block or two of street free of charge, and submit a proposition whereby the city can buy the machine with the agreement that no payments are to be made until 1896."

A proposition to that effect was made to Mayor Baines and Highway street, and bridge committee, but no agreement was reached. The agent says that the stone from a quarry, only a mile distant, is of the very best quality for road work and as the steam roller is arranged to drive a crusher, the city ought to have one of his machines. There has been some talk of buying a crusher, and it is said that the city authorities have been looking at one at Beloit, with an eye to purchasing it.

Work has been begun digging out the earth on Milwaukee street between Marion and Pleasant streets, with the idea of filling it up with stone and then using the roller to pick the mass down. As this is the way the roller is intended to be used, the result will doubtless be entirely satisfactory.

It Makes Us Shudder

To think of chills and fever. But when we really have it—supposing us to be so unfortunate—our frames undergo a series of shocks which are a close analogy to those produced by an earthquake. Roasted next, we are drenched by perspiration afterward. Truly a delectable condition of things. But how easy to remedy and how speedy! The certain means of relief is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Tested as well where malaria is prevalent in its most virulent forms, as where it takes on a milder guise, it has proved itself to possess both a remedial and preventive efficacy of the highest order. In South America, Guatemala, Mexico and the Isthmus of Panama no less than throughout the North American continent, its success as a means of forestalling and relieving miasmatic disease has been unparalleled. Use the Bitters for dyspepsia, constipation, bilious and kidney trouble, nervousness and debility.

AS WE USED TO LONG AGO.

Play that you are mother, dear.
And play that papa is your beau;
Play that we sit in the corner here,
Just as we used to long ago;
Play so, we lovers two,
Are just as happy as can be,
And I'll say, "I love you!" to you,
And you say, "I love you!" to me!
"I love you!" we both shall say,
All in earnest and all in play.

Or, play that you are the other one
That sometimes came and went away,
And play that the light of years ago
Stole into my heart again today!
Playing that you are the one I knew
In the days that never again may be,
I'll say, "I love you!" to you,
And you say, "I love you!" to me!
"I love you!" my heart will say
To the ghost of the past come back today.

Or, play that you sought this nestling place
For your own sweet self, with that dual guise
Of your pretty mother in your face
And the look of that other in your eyes!
So the dear old love shall live anew,
As I hear my darling on my knee,
And I'll say, "I love you!" to you,
And you'll say, "I love you!" to me!
Oh, many a strange, true thing we say
And do when we pretend to play!

THE LIAR.

I never loved but one woman. I passed five years with her in perfect happiness. I can truly say that to her I owe my success, because of my freedom from care and because she imbued me with some of her great ambition. From the first moment we met it seemed to me that I had always loved her. Her beauty and character answered all my dreams. That woman never left me. She died in my house, in my arms and still loving me. But when I think of her it drives me mad. If I attempt to describe her as she was during the five years, in all the glory of her love, with her tall, svelte figure, her clear cut features, like an oriental Jew's, her luminous, pale face, her cheerful talk, her voice soft and sweet as her glance; if I try to bring again to my mind that vision of delight, it is only to say—I hate her!

Her name was Clotilde. In the house in which I first met her she was known as Mme. Deloche, the widow of a captain long since dead. She appeared to have traveled extensively. In her conversation she would sometimes say, "When I was at Tampico," or, perhaps, "Once during a raid in Valparaiso." Aside from these remarks nothing in her manner, in her language, suggested a nomadic life—nothing of that disorder and hurry incident to quick departures or untimely arrivals. She was a Parisian, dressed always with exquisite taste, without a burlesque or those eccentric serapes by which one recognizes the wives of officers and marines who are perpetually on the move.

When I found that I loved her, my only idea was to ask her hand in marriage. A friend spoke to her for me. She replied simply that she should never marry. Thenceforth I avoided places where I would see her, and as I was too unhappy to work I resolved to go away. I was making preparations for departure, when, one morning, in the midst of the confusion of packing, Mme. Deloche entered my apartment.

"Why do you go away?" she asked. "Because you love me? I also love you, only"—here her voice trembled a little—"only I am married." And she told me her history.

It was a story of love and desertion. Her husband was dissipated. He had beaten her. They separated at the end of three years. Her family, of whom she seemed very proud, occupied high positions in Paris, but since her marriage they had disowned her. She was a niece of the grand rabbi. Her sister, widow of an officer of high rank, had married for a second husband the general of the guard at St. Germain. As for herself, financially ruined by her husband, she had fortunately been highly educated and possessed several accomplishments, of which she now made use. She gave lessons in music in the wealthy families of the Chaussee d'Antin and the Faubourg St. Germain.

Her story was touching, but quite long, full of the pretty repetitions and interminable incidents which crowd the talk of women. I hired a pretty little house in the Avenue de l'Imperatrice. I passed the first year listening to her, looking at her, without thinking of work. It was she who first urged me to enter my studio and fired me with ambition to become a great artist. I could not induce her to give up her pupils. This independence touched me deeply. I admired the proud soul which made me feel a little humiliated before the expressed wish to owe nothing except to her own exertions. We were thus separated every day.

With what happiness I returned home, so impatient when she was late, so happy when I found her there before me! From her pupils in Paris she brought me rare flowers. I often forced her to accept some present, but she laughingly said that she was richer than I, and the lessons must have been very profitable, for she always dressed with great elegance and always in black, which she wore through coquetry on account of her complexion.

Her beauty was enhanced by heavy velvets, shining jets, lustrous satins and masses of silky laces. All her pupils, daughters of bankers and financiers, adored and respected her, and more than once she showed me a bracelet, a bangle or a piece of lace which one of them had given her.

Except when at work, we were never separated. Only on Sunday she went to St. Germain to see her sister, the wife of the general, with whom, long ago, she had made her peace. I accompanied her to the station. She returned the same evening, and often, when the days were long, we would make a rendezvous and go to row on the water or for a walk in the woods. She would tell me about her visit, how pretty the children were and how happy they all were together. It seemed to make her so unhappy that I redoubled my tenderness in order to make her forget her sorrow.

What happy times of work and confidence we had! I suspected nothing. Everything she said appeared so true, so natural. I could reproach her with only one thing—sometimes, in telling me about the families to which her pupils belonged, she gave a quantity of intimate details and told of imaginary intrigues. She saw always the romance around her and seemed to live in dramatic combinations. These dreams troubled my happiness. I, who wished to fly far from the rest of the world to live alone with her, often found her occupied with indifferent things. But I could pardon these dreams in a woman young and unhappy whose life had been a sad romance, without hope of a happy denouement.

Once only I became suspicious, or, rather, uneasy. One Sunday evening she did not return. I was in despair. What should I do? Go to St. Germain? I could not do that without compromising her. However, after a fearful night, I had just decided to go there when she arrived, pale and troubled. Her sister was ill; she had remained to care for her. I believed what she told me, not suspecting the flow of words which met the least questioning. Two or three times, in the same week, she returned to spend the night; finally, the sister having recovered, she again took up her regular and tranquil life.

Unhappily, some time afterward, it was her turn to fall ill. One day she came home from giving lessons, trembling, weak, feverish. Inflammation of the lungs declared itself, became more serious, and soon—the doctor told me—irremediable. I was crazed with grief. Then I thought that I would make her last hours happy. Her family, which she loved so much, of which she was so proud, I would bring to her bedside. Without saying anything to her, I wrote first to her sister at St. Germain and went myself to the grand rabbi, her uncle. When I arrived at his house, I was ushered into an ante-chamber, and soon the grand rabbi came to receive me.

"There are moments, sir," I began, "when hatred ought to be forgotten."

He looked at me in astonishment. I went on:

"Your niece is dying!"

"My niece! I have no niece! You are mistaken."

"I beg of you, sir, to forget that foolish quarrel. I speak of Mme. Deloche, the wife of Captain—"

"I do not know Mme. Deloche. You are mistaken, my child, I assure you. And kindly he pushed me toward the door, taking me for a lunatic or a fool. I may have looked so, indeed. What I had heard was so terrible, so unexpected. She had lied, then. But why? Suddenly an idea struck me. I would go to the address of one of her pupils, of whom she was always talking, the daughter of a well known banker.

"Mme. Deloche," I began to the servant.

"She does not live here."

"Yes; I know that. She is the lady who gives piano lessons to the young ladies."

"There are no young ladies in the house—not even a piano. I do not know what you mean," and she closed the door in my face.

I went no farther. I was sure of receiving the same answer everywhere. Returning to our poor little home, a letter was handed me, postmarked St. Germain. I opened it, knowing already what its contents were. The general did not know Mme. Deloche. He had, moreover, neither wife nor child.

This was the last blow. So for five years every word she had uttered had been a lie! A thousand jealous thoughts seized me, and foolishly not knowing what I did, I ran to the room where she lay dying. All the questions which tormented me poured from my lips in a torrent of words. "What did you go to St. Germain every Sunday for? At whose house have you passed your days? Where did you stay that night? Come, answer me!" And I caught hold of her, searching through her eyes into the depths of her soul. But she remained mute—passive.

I was trembling with rage. "You never gave lessons! I have been everywhere. No one knows you. Come, where did you get the money, those laces, those jewels?"

She gave me one long, sad look, and that was all. I should have spared her. I should have allowed her to die in peace. But I loved her too much. Jealousy was stronger than pity.

"You have deceived me for five years," I went on. "You have lied to me every day, every hour. You know all my life, and I know absolutely nothing of yours. Nothing—not even your name! Because it is not yours, this name that you bear. Oh, liar, liar!"

She was dying, and I not to know what name to call her! "Come, now, who are you? Where did you come from? Why did you come into my life? Speak! Tell me something!"

Instead of replying she turned her face to the wall, as if she feared that her last look would give up her secret.

And thus she died—died without divulging her secret, a liar to the end!

A Famous Cook.

The fattening of poultry has been made the subject of special attention by M. Josephs, the great chef who has started a restaurant in Paris. The poultry that he uses is fed according to his own directions. It is first allowed a run of 200 yards. A few days after this is curtailed to 175 yards, and then reduced daily until the poultry is confined in boxes. Beautifully plump and fat it then is and ready for the crowded heads who honor his establishment.

To see Josephs carve one of these birds is a revelation. He holds it in mid-air on a fork. With his knife he then dexterously skims round the wings and legs, and before it is possible to say "Jack Robinson" every portion of the bird is carved and ready to be served—Boston Traveller.

AT THE SEASIDE.

Fashions That Pass in Review on the Crowded Board-Walk.

Upon the promenade at a very fashionable summer seaside resort is daily given a wonderful view of an ever-changing throng of superbly attired women—a very kaleidoscope of color and movement. Not a few of the costumes are undeniably gaudy—silks that the color-loving Orientals would delight in, and a combination of shades and patterns that cause the eyes to ache as they rest upon them, making it a relief to turn to the quicker lines, which are by no means lacking in that great medley of color. Among many charming toilets noted was one all black, and the other black and white. The last named was of white glace silk, so narrowly striped with fine hairlines in black that a silvery effect was produced. The skirt was immensely wide at the hem. The sleeves formed one very large puff, terminating above the elbows. The vest front was made of accordion-plaited white chiffon, overlaid with broad black velvet ribbon. A velvet girdle confined the waist and a full plaited ruche of chiffon encircled the throat. The very small toque was of black straw, trimmed with jetted lace and white field daisies. A frilled white silk parasol and long gloves of white suede kid, stitched with black, completed an elegant and most becoming toilet. The black costume was made of crepon of corrugated design. It was extremely full in the back, falling in heavy flutes that tapered toward the waist. The bodice of black satin, softly draped with chiffon, was brilliant with a mass of superb arabesque trimming of finest French jet that covered its upper half. The sleeves of satin, draped with the chiffon, formed one immense puff to the elbows, above which fell long Vandyke points of the jet. The tiny head covering was a mass of jet, and the parasol of black chiffon. The whole formed a costume that stood out from among the more garish gowns as distinctly elegant and ladylike.

THE GOOD OLD TIMES.

The Question of Prices of Food, the Wages Paid and the Fees Expected.

The question of prices in those days, the first quarter of the seventeenth century, as compared to these is full of interest to everyone, and it is satisfactory to find that food was not as fabulously cheap in the days of our forefathers as we are often led to believe. Mary Verney writes to Ralph at Blois, complaining bitterly of the dearth of provisions in London. Beef is 4d, veal and mutton 8d, while Pen Verney reckons 8s a week too much for her diet, which is afterward fixed at 6s a year. Twelve pounds a year seems a great deal for willful little Betty, aged 13, to spend on her dress; but country bred as she was, she declines, Mary writes, to wear anything but silk. The sum of £30, claimed by Nancy Denton, who was a spoiled child and rich man's daughter, is far more appropriate to her position. In fact, the fees earned by physicians in those days were far in excess of what we should give now, in spite of the exceeding simplicity—not to say remarkable unpleasantness—of their pharmacopoeia and treatment. Dr. Theodore Mayence, the fashionable doctor, left £140,000 (equivalent to over $500,000) behind him, and Sir Ralph is miserable because he cannot afford to pay Dr. Denton the £50, which is the ordinary fee for a confinement. A Venetian mirror costs £40, a portrait by Van Dyke £50. A maid's wages come to £3, but the pair of "trimmed gloves," with which it is the fashion to reward any extra work on her part, come to £1 5s—an absurdly disproportionate present. The price of Sir Edmund's Covent Garden house is £100, and many horses fetch as much, while £200 a year is the usual price for a boy's board and teaching in a good French family.

Swam Half a Mile Handcuffed.

Norfolk, Va., Special: Martin Sullivan, a white sailor on the cruiser Minneapolis, now at the Norfolk Navy Yard, was ironed Saturday night for desertion. He escaped from his cell last night and while handcuffed leaped overboard and swam across the river to Berkeley, half a mile away. He hid under a raft while the cruiser swept the water with her search lights. When they were turned off he made his way to Berkeley, where some negroes filed his handcuffs off. He then exchanged his uniform for citizen's clothes and engaged to work his passage to New York on a barge. When a launch from the yard passed the barge today he hid in a boiler, but was subsequently captured.

Boston's Richest Men.

The death of Benjamin P. Cheney, the second richest man in Boston, was announced yesterday. He was a citizen who had confined his activity to his business operations, which had been very large in the express company with which he was identified and in railroads. The richest man in Boston, I believe, is still J. Montgomery Sears. Next to the Cheney estate is that of the late Frederick L. Ames, with that of the still living John M. Forbes, supposed to be very large also. Mr. Forbes is in the close vicinity of 80 years of age, but still vigorous.

A Transparent Cement For Mending Glass.

It is often desirable to mend a handsome piece of glassware that has been slightly broken, but the majority of the good cements used for repairing valuable articles are not transparent enough for the glass. An excellent cement for this purpose may be made by dissolving in a pipkin over the fire—taking especial care that it does not boil over—half an ounce of isinglass in a wineglassful of spirits of wine. This will make a very durable and transparent glue.

"Do you really think that a bicycle is worth the money?"

"Worth the money?" said the quick tempered man. "Why, mine has paid for itself in less than three months in the beautiful explanation it furnishes for a black eye."—Washington Star.

YOUNG MAN IN LOVE HAS DISAPPEARED

THEODORE SEEMAN SOUGHT
BY HIS MOTHER.

She Asks The Boy's Sweetheart for Information, but in Vain—Ball Players Coming Home—Horses for Chicago—Piano for Cyclers—Pearl Hunters.

Theodore Seeman, youthful though he be, is in love. His love is the ardent sort, that comes to sixteen-year old boys and his mother thinks it may explain his flight from home. "I haven't seen him since Saturday," she said today. "I'll go crazy if I don't find him pretty soon." Theodore's home is in Center. He went to a Center dance Saturday night and his family have been wondering ever since what became of him. Mrs. Seeman came to town today in the hopes of getting some trace of him. She was much alarmed, and told the circumstances in the case to friends in Nolan Brothers grocery. "Theodore has been going with a girl who works in an east side hotel," she said. "I came in hoping to find the girl and get her to tell me what she knew. I went to her and she said she had seen my boy but that if I wanted him I could look for him. I am going to Chief Acheson now and see what he can do for me."

RACE IN APPLETON—Most of the riders who come to Janesville August 29-30 will be in Appleton August 28. Appleton people promise to give Janesville visitors a very pleasant time during the meet and are anxious for Bower City entries. Entries in the Appleton handicaps close tomorrow and in the open events, August 26.

GOOD SHOW—Ferris Comedians pleased a good audience with their rendition of "Greased Lightning" last evening. The performance evoked howls of laughter and Grace Hayward's dancing was especially well liked. Tonight "Lend Me Five Shillings" will be played.

INCLUDED IN TOMORROW'S SALE will be a big lot of short ends of organdies, lawn, dimities, satines, pongs, ginghams, and other wash goods which have been 10, 12 and 15 cents. To make it an even thing, we will make them the same special price as the outing flannel, six cents a yard. Archie Reid & Co.

We have just put in our case a line of Justice Seibert's cigars, well known to the traveling public as high grade goods; among them are Seibert's bouquets, three for 25 cents. Optimates straight, 10 cents. Optimate Perfection straight 15 cents. C. D. Stevens pharmacy.

That was all there was to it.

GROCERS AND DRY GOODS MEN
TAKE A HOLIDAY.

Both Steamers and Both Parks Were Rented for the Joint Picnic and Games and Gayety Succeeded the Yard Stick and Scales—Free Dancing in the Evening.

OCAI grocers gave their first annual picnic at Crystal Springs and Mayflower Parks today and the affair was a great success. F. S. Winslow was the chief pusher in the enterprise and when he pushes something has to move.

Promptly at noon the different dealers locked up their doors, stabled their delivery horses and put the eggs in the refrigerator. Half an hour later found them heading for the steamboat docks, while the flour, kerosene, sugar and shoe blacking were left to take care of themselves. It was the first annual outing and the purveyors of provisions prepared to make it unan-mons. In this they had able allies. The idea seemed to be catching and the dry goods men hung up their towels, hoopskirts and Brussels carpets, grabbed a palm leaf fan, and sought the cooling shade and bubbling springs.

AND GENERAL MANAGER

Both Boats Ran.

One steamboat line was not enough for the grocermen. They wanted all there was in sight—and they got it. Manager Winslow closed a contract with both river captains and made arrangements for the use of both parks, consequently frequent trips were made, and the fare was put at the price of a thousand or two of m'ches—15 cents—and that included a ride in both directions—"a-comin' an' a-go'in'." A special trip was made at 4:30 o'clock to accommodate those who had to stay behind awhile, to post up the books, cool the picnic water melon or catch a few salt cod-fish or sardines for supper.

If you think that the grocers and dry goods men of this town, with their employees, do not make a pretty good sized crowd, you want to "line 'em up" sometime and count 'em. There are about two dozen grocery stores in town and half a dozen or more dry goods dealers and they have from two or three up to fifteen or twenty employees. They make quite a crowd in themselves but in addition many others attended as the trip was a cheap one and open to the world.

Some of the Firms.

Some of the firms who closed up their stores were, W. T. Vankirk, Hall & Bates, I. C. Brownell, W. F. Carle, Dunn Bros., S. H. Johnson, Hayner & Grubb, E. D. Hall, A. C. Muenger, J. H. Myers, Nolan Brothers, J. H. Parker, P. Rudolph, Sanborn & Co., Skelly & Wilbur, Hall & Rose, Tarrant & Osrood, F. S. Winslow, Conrad & Co. and August Lutz & Co., not to speak of others who were less extensively engaged in the business.

The dry goods houses were, Bort Bailey & Company, J. M. Bostwick & Sons, Archie Reid & Company, T. P. Buras, Leo Mayer, Mrs. Woodcock and E. Hall. While all of these firms were not represented, the most of them were, and nearly all carried well filled baskets. At the grounds there were all kinds of games and amusements. No regular program had been arranged, but all kinds of athletic events were arranged after the fun began. One of the features was a tug of war between the east and west sides of the river, best two out of three pulls. The first prize was $5, donated by Captain Richard Griffith; second prize, $2.50, donated by the committee.

A sack race with three prizes, donated by the committee, was also given, the first prize being $1; second prize, 50 cents; third prize, 25 cents. Other games were also arranged in the course of the afternoon, and this evening there will be a free dance. "All the people will be there tonight," said Director General Winslow. "When they can go up for thirty cents a couple and dance for nothing, we ought to get a big crowd."

DRANK FOUL WATER AND PASSED AWAY

TWO DEATHS IN A RAILROAD
MAN'S FAMILY.

William Peter's Persisted in Using a Filthy Well, and Drank the Noxious Fluid While on His Death Bed—One Child Gone and Another Very Low.

Foul water, which he insisted in drinking, killed William Peters, a railroad man living in Porter's Station, near Clinton. Ten days ago a young child of his died from the same trouble and there is another very sick child in the family.

Dr. Ernest Helm, of Beloit, attended the cases and says the family persisted in doing things contrary to all laws of hygiene or common sense.

Mr. Peter's while actually dying, would not only refuse to take medicine but insisted on drinking water from a filthy and poisonous well. His wife did things no wiser, and the doctor seeing that if the lives of any of the family were to be saved, something must be done at once, asked to have the children taken from their home. One bright little girl, a step-daughter of Mrs. Peters, has been taken away, and neighbors are trying to save the other sick child.

SLEEVES AND LINGERIE.

Elbow Sleeves and White Gloves of Kid, Chamois and Lisle.

White gloves are extremely fashionable in Paris, and as many gowns are made with elbow length sleeves which the gloves are obliged to meet the fashion would be an expensive one if it allowed only kid or suede hand coverings. Fortunately gloves of fine thread are quite permissible, and these may be washed as often as necessary. White chamois gloves are also useful, although repeated washings give them a cream tint.

Entirely different corsages are not as much worn as they were, a homogeneous effect being given to a combination costume by having skirt and sleeves of the same color, while the body of the bodice is unlike.

It is said that there will be a marked change in sleeves before long, but what it will be is not yet decided fully. There are indications of a reduction in fullness, a drooping from the shoulders and a general drooping effect, approaching the 1830 mode.

Lingerie is a feature of fashion of increasing importance. Not only are linen and batiste again in fashionable favor for underclothing, but petticoats of these goods are rivaling the silk ones which have prevailed so long. They are trimmed with embroidery, tucks and lace as in ancient days, or are hemstitched and are worn under white or light gowns. Washable skirts and underwear are always in the most refined taste. Although garments made of china silk and surah are said to be washable, their appearance is always ruined by soap and water, for if they are tinted they fade, while if they are white they turn yellow. Collars and cuffs of various styles are also fashionable, and nothing is a neater or more appropriate finish to tailor gowns than bands of snowy linen, immaculately fresh.

The gown illustrated is of broche silk, the design being trails of roses and foliage on a straw ground. The skirt has deep godets all the way around and is untrimmed. The fitted bodice has a blouse of straw gauze headed with pink and a square yoke of white lace over a pink lining. The balloon sleeves are of broche silk, the belt of pink silk. The lace collar has at the side a cluster of pink flowers. A hat of black rice straw trimmed with pink and black flowers and pink ribbon accompanies the gown. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE PREVAILING MODE.

Still the Ample Godet—Capes For Warm Weather.

Lace, net and black gauze are the materials of which summer capes are made, over black or colored linings. Black gauze over pale pink, with a thick ruche of black gauze, is the extreme of fashion.

It cannot be said that skirts are any less ample in width as the season progresses. They are five or six yards around, according to the style desired or the breadth of the goods used for them. There are various shapes, but all of them have more or less the godet effect. In extreme cases this extends all the way around.

For silk and other very narrow goods and materials having marked stripes the style of skirt most favored has breadths straight in the middle and bias on each edge. There are 10 or 11 of these breadths. The skirt is extremely scant at the top and has no darts, as the seams approach so closely at the waist as to make darts unnecessary.

DRESS TOILET.

necessary, and there is barely allowance for a plait on each side of the opening at the back.

Large rustic hats trimmed with black velvet are liked for country wear by women who can bear the picturesque style of costume. There are many women who look their best only in the conventional mode of the hair, and whose pleasing appearance depends upon a strict following of the fashion. With these any deviation into the artistic realm as distinguished from the conventional is sure to produce an incongruous effect and to prove unbecoming. There are other women to whom fashionable garb is an extingisher, and whose beauty shows to advantage only in odd or antique costume, and to whom the attire of other centuries seems far more appropriate than contemporary dress.

The sketch shows a gown with one of the new godet skirts. It is of red and blue changeable crepon, with red dashes and streaks. The blouse bodice is of white silk gauze over red silk and is very full and trimmed with guipure insertion. The balloon sleeves are of crepon, with caplets of white gauze edged with guipure. Bands of red satin trim the front of the bodice and the sleeves, and the draped belt is also of red satin. JUDIC CHOLLET.

MONEY NOT NECESSARY.

An Exchange That Gets Along Without Gold or Silver.

A coterie of advanced labor men in San Francisco have solved the money question, as far as they personally are concerned, by getting along without gold or silver. They are endeavoring to prove that it is possible to do business without any medium of exchange other than common honesty. The new society is known as the Labor Exchange, in connection with the American Industrial Union, with national headquarters in Chicago, and is based on the idea that people seldom want what they themselves produce. Therefore, they say that the way to solve the labor problem is to put the products of industry in the market for exchange for other commodities. This Labor Exchange conducts a general store, to which the idle shoemaker or other manual worker brings the products he has manufactured at home or in his shop during a lull in business. He is paid nothing in money for the goods he deposits, but is given a certificate, which entitles him to any goods in the store as pay for his wares. Mr. Glesser, the manager of the store, says that by the aid of this system during the past year goods valued at many thousands of dollars have been exchanged among the members of the society. The certificate reads that it is not redeemable in legal tender, but is receivable by the association as payment for merchandise for all services. The certificate is secured by the real and personal property of the association. There are, according to the San Francisco Examiner, 150 members of the exchange in San Francisco, and about 800 in the state. Plans are under consideration by the San Francisco branch by which shoemakers, glove makers, knitters and other artisans will be kept employed to keep up the stock of the various stores in the state. They will be paid wholly by checks or certificates, which entitle them to draw out goods to the value of their earnings.

Children, especially infants, are soon run down with cholera infantum or "summer complaint." Don't wait to determine, but give De Witt's Colic or Cholera Cure promptly, you can rely on it. Use no other. C. D. Stevens.

God Is Doing His Best.

Is not God doing the best He can for us? Can any Christian disciple have a doubt on this point? And if God is doing His best for us why should we complain of any ordering of His? Sickness and bereavement, disappointment and sorrow, as well as health and happiness and joy, are all ordered or permitted by Him in wisdom and love. We know what is best for us, and He sees that we have it. In view of this, why are thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me?

THERE is no doubt, no failure when you take DeWitt's Colic & Cholera Cure. It is pleasant, cures promptly. No bad after effects. C. D. Stevens.

Severe gripping pains of the stomach and bowels instantly stopped by De Witt's Colic & Cholera Cure. C. D. Stevens.

Look well to your old buggy this dry weather; take no chances on accident; new rigs are cheap, and if you don't believe it, come and see us. F. A. Taylor.

A Favor Indeed.

"Yes. He did me the greatest favor one man can do another."
"What was that?"
"He married my homely daughter."
—Truth.

I EXPLAINED.

CONFIDENCE IN THEIR PRODUCT LED THE SHAKERS TO MAKE AN UNUSUAL OFFER.

People of this day and generation are not disposed to give things away. When therefore the Mount Lebanon Shakers recently stated that any one could get a bottle of Digestive Cordial by calling in person at their New York office, it excited a great deal of talk.

One of the leading dailies of the Metropolis sent a reporter to find out what was meant. It developed that the preparation in question has proven beneficial in so large a majority of cases that nine-tenths of the people who are sufficiently anxious to call for a sample, find so much relief that they continue the product's use and tell their friends about it. As a result a very large demand has been created.

The Shakers have a long record of success as inventors and their various medicinal products have always enjoyed a high reputation. The Digestive Cordial is not only nourishing in itself but it digests other foods when taken as directed.

Sleepless nights, spots before the eyes and a sense of heaviness after eating, loss of weight and general weakness are among the common symptoms of indigestion which it promptly relieves, and it is gratifying to know that such a positive and harmless remedy as the Digestive Cordial should have at last been devised.

The common idea about consumption is that it is a lung trouble, but this is not all. Why is it that the consumptive gets thinner and thinner until he has wasted to a skeleton? Because the food he eats does not nourish him. It has not digested.

The first sign of the appearance of consumption is growing thin, wasting; this is before the cough, before the expectoration. Stop the wasting and recovery will follow in the incipient stages, and the disease will be retarded in advanced cases.

MYSTERY OF A MAINE ISLAND.

A Hermit Englishman Who Ended His Misery by Cutting His Throat.

"Some years ago, up at North Haven Island, on the Maine coast," said a New Yorker, "I came across a mystery that haunts me still. A bare rocky point juts out into the sea on one side of the island, and the first year that I visited the place there was a rude cabin on the rock. Having gone out there from curiosity one day, I found a man in shameful rags trying out the oil from the refuse of a fish-canning factory. When I came to examine the man his appearance astonished me. He was an extremely handsome, well-made Englishman of forty or thereabouts. His hands, soiled with the material he worked in, were small and well-shaped. When I tried to draw him into conversation, he first answered in monosyllables, and was almost sulky in his reserve. He gradually thawed, however, and I found that he spoke rare and beautiful English, and that of a well-bred and well-read man. Glancing into the door of his cabin, I could see perhaps a score of well-thumbed volumes in library binding. His reserve was such that I could not ask him about himself, but I left the island deeply interested in him."

"I turned up at North Haven the next year, and one of the earliest things I did was to go out to the point in search of my acquaintance. The rock was bare again, and there was no trace of him and his cottage. I asked about him of some persons I met on the island, and here is what I learned: He had come to the place mysteriously some years before, having been dropped by a schooner. He found work at the fish cannery, but later quit the place, built his cabin on the rock, supplied himself with food chiefly by fishing, and obtained from the factory the privilege of trying oil from the refuse. From the products he obtained a little ready money for tobacco and other luxuries. At some time between my two visits his cabin was discovered to be on fire late one night, and, hurrying down, his neighbors saw him amid the flames dead, with his throat cut. The fire had so seized upon the hut that his body could not be removed until it was nearly consumed. He was buried, and no solution of the mystery discovered. Life had evidently become insupportable to him, and he had taken the way of suicide as the easiest one out of misery."

A FIRE CURTAIN OF WATER.

An Effective Device to Save Buildings from Destruction by a Spreading Fire.

An effective device for the protection of buildings from fires in adjacent structures has been successfully tested in Boston. The idea worked out in the apparatus is to maintain a sheet of water between the fire and the building to be protected. This is done by placing on every open side of the building near the top a line of perforated piping for carrying the water. The complete apparatus consists of a five-inch stand-pipe, extending over the upper story. From it runs another pipe around the sides and front, from two and one-half to four inches in diameter. On the front are three revolving sprinklers, and one is placed at each exposed side, in the center. The arms are of bronze metal, slightly curved. At each end of the arms is a ball nozzle, such as is used by fire departments on regular hose lines. At the Boston test a fire department steamer furnished the power, and for about fifteen minutes poured through the sprinkler a delivery of 1,000 gallons a minute, completely drenching the walls, and keeping a continuous sheet of water from top to bottom.

A New Rapid-Growing Rose.

M. de Vilman, says Cosmos, has produced a new rose, distinguished for marvellous rapidity of growth. The blossom measures not more than forty to fifty centimetres in diameter, and is a cross between a Japanese variety and a hybrid perpetual rose. The bush bears roses all summer, single, double, and semi-double, and they have the form of pom-poms, and tend to grow in clusters. The most striking thing about the new rose is its astounding rapidity of growth. Plants from seeds sown in the middle of January may be counted upon to blossom by the middle of April. Even more remarkable was the development of two plants from seeds sown on March 1 of this year. One of these began to blossom March 28, and the other three days later.

New Orleans Sewerage.

New Orleans is to have a new and complete system of sewerage, which is to cost about $8,000,000. The city council has adopted the plans and voted the funds. It will at least take four or five years to complete the work, but probably within two or three years most of the conspicuously unpleasant and unhealthful features of the present system will be done away with, and the city thereby made very much more attractive to visitors.

Self-Sustaining Aquariums.

Aquarium tanks are made self-sustaining by the introduction of just the right amount of plant life, by which the water is aerated and kept sweet for a considerable time, even in such small bodies. Ulva, or sea lettuce, a beautiful green plant, is often used for this purpose. When it is undisturbed air collects under the ulva and buoys it up.

Above and Below.

Husband—"We must be more economical in the use of coal."
Wife (a Vassar graduate)—"There are untold billions of tons of coal just beneath the earth's surface, and—"
Husband—"And one or two big corporations just above it."
